Hearty congratulation to our partner Karuna Trust for receiving International Ashden Award 2019

Reliable energy transforms healthcare, creating better services that reach more people. India's Karuna Trust delivers effective healthcare using solar power and energy-efficient buildings and equipment, in areas that suffer up to eight hours of power cuts every day. The trust's unique approach integrates energy and health at a fundamental level, empowering clinical staff and local communities. It is the most marginalised patients who benefit most – no longer having to travel long distances for specialist care, or risk power cuts mid-treatment.
